

Save

Email

Send to Display options

Case Reports > Clin Nucl Med. 2021 Dec 1;46(12):1011-1012.

doi: 10.1097/RLU.00000000000003711.

Evolving Bilateral Hypermetabolic Axillary Lymphadenopathy on FDG PET/CT Following 2-Dose COVID-19 Vaccination

Joanna K Weeks ¹, Sophia R O'Brien ¹, Karen C Rosenspire ², Jacob G Dubroff ², Austin R Pantel ²

Affiliations + expand

PMID: 34735411 PMCID: PMC8575109 DOI: 10.1097/RLU.00000000000003711

Free PMC article

Abstract

A 50-year-old woman with stage IV sigmoid adenocarcinoma presented for restaging FDG PET/CT status post neoadjuvant chemotherapy/immunotherapy and diverting sigmoid colostomy. FDG PET/CT demonstrated FDG uptake in the known sigmoid mass and in abdominopelvic lymph node

FULL TEXT LINKS

ACTIONS

 Cite

 Favorites

SHARE

PAGE NAVIGATION

 Title & authors